- D20 meeting in Tokyo (April 26th) specifically pushes for Infrastructure Data Initiative (IDI) as key contribution to Quality Infrastructure Investment agenda

News from our partners

- EDHECinfra published 2 new studies:
  - on Jan 30th, EDHEC infra /LTIIA Research Chair released a study “Which Factors Explain Unlisted Infrastructure Asset Prices?” showing that common risk factors found in numerous asset classes explain the evolution of unlisted infrastructure secondary market prices. It also shows that after a long period of prices increases, “peak infra” may now be behind us. It argues the process of price discovery happened in slow motion, and in a very illiquid market, it took 10 years for investors’ views on fair value to express themselves.
Another EDHEC paper “ESG Reporting and Financial Performance: The Case of Infrastructure”, drawn from the EDHECinfra/LTIIA Research Chair and published in March finds there is no financial penalty or gain (based on Return on Assets) for infrastructure firms to implement ESG management and reporting. Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) scores do not seem to be negatively or positively correlated with the financial performance of unlisted infrastructure firms.

This initial study – drawing from two unique databases: the ESG scores computed by GRESB Infrastructure since 2016, and the financial metrics of the EDHECinfra universe - represents the first research insights into the link between returns and ESG in unlisted infrastructure and as such, will have to be further researched and confirmed, with need to improve data collection and methodologies for the future.

➢ GIH and EDHEC Infra released their 3rd Global Investor Survey on April 25th

The largest survey of infrastructure investors ever made included more than 315 infrastructure leaders, representing approximately USD10 trillion of global assets under management. It shows that investors do not understand the risks they are taking, as most cannot benchmark the risks they are exposed to when investing in unlisted infrastructure. This report also shows a strong increase in ESG awareness – with over 1/3 of institutional investors considering ESG to be a “first order question, possibly at the expense of performance”.

➢ GRESB published in mi-February the pre-release versions of its 2019 GRESB Assessments featuring a step-by-step guide to successfully completing the Assessments. The portal opened on April 1, 2019. Each year infrastructure managers and companies use the Assessments to measure, benchmark and improve their sustainability programs and report to their investors on their ESG performance. LTIIA has been participating in the GRESB Infrastructure Benchmark Committee meetings and contributing to the new developments retained.

➢ Paris-EuropaPlace launched a working group with a view to update and complement a first report elaborated 3 years ago on the Ways and means to improve Infrastructure LT financing by better mobilizing the various regulatory, corporate and financial actors, public and private, based or active in Paris. Discussions and Auditions of various stakeholders including representatives of Multilateral Development Banks, IFIs and NDPBs, as well as specialized multinational actors such as GIH, PIDG, WB-MIGA…). are scheduled to that end, all through end-June 2019.

Various LTIIA members participate in that brainstorming exercise. The report will be presented at the upcoming Paris Infrastructure week international Forum, organized jointly by LTIIA, Paris-Europlace and GIH on October 7th, 2019.
